Decreased Depression

revealed that Comedy, Artificial Intelligence, and our unique Self-Care Strategies quickly decreased depression, stress and anxiety among cancer patients during the pandemic.

Through award-winning digital and live ComedyCures programs and research studies, patients, caregivers, and healthcare workers around the world learn transformative daily coping strategies proven to decrease stress, anxiety, and depression while increasing resiliency, self-empowerment, and comic perspective.

Saranne Rothberg founded The ComedyCures Foundation in 1999 from her chemo chair and she is still cancer-free. Her comic perspective helped her beat stage IV cancer and she has made it her mission to share humor and laughter to help others.

More than 300 Comedians and Industry Professionals have collaborated with The ComedyCures Foundation to fulfill our mission to bring therapeutic humor and helpful strategies to those who need it most.

JokeFest

THE FUNNIEST GAME SHOW

Our hilarious live online ComedyCures game show is hosted by Saranne and features two of our fave comedy families: "America's Got Talent: The Champions" Tom Cotter, and wife/Comedian Kerri Louise of "Last Comic Standing" (and their sons) facing off against YouTube Star and FaceBook Host "One Funny Mother" Dena Blizzard (and family)!
