

Joy, Hope and Humor when you need it most.

The ComedyCures Foundation is here 24/7 to tickle your funny bone.

ComedyCures is a 501(C)3 non-profit.
We have collaborated with over

1000
PARTNERS

impacting over one million people of all ages from diverse populations around the globe.

Here are a few of those organizations:

ComedyCures Mindset and Metastatic Cancer Research Study Results

18.1%

Decreased Depression

revealed that Comedy, Artificial Intelligence, and our unique Self-Care Strategies quickly decreased depression, stress and anxiety among cancer patients during the pandemic.

Through our award-winning digital programs and live events, ComedyCures entertains, educates, and helps you develop your superpowers of laughter, hope, joy, play, and humor.

Saranne Rothberg founded The ComedyCures Foundation in 1999 from her chemo chair and she is still cancer-free. Her comic perspective helped her beat stage IV cancer and she has made it her mission to share humor and laughter to help others.

More than 300 Comedians and Industry Professionals have collaborated with The ComedyCures Foundation to fulfill our mission to bring therapeutic humor and helpful strategies to those who need it most.

Our hilarious live online ComedyCures game show is hosted by Saranne and features two of our fave comedy families: "America's Got Talent: The Champions" Tom Cotter, and wife/Comedian Kerri Louise of "Last Comic Standing" (and their sons) facing off against YouTube Star and FaceBook Host "One Funny Mother" Dena Blizzard (and family)!

The ComedyCures Foundation Presents

Our 5-day live online biennial wellness event is packed with 29 thought leaders and 24 comedians from around the globe providing non-stop joy, humor, laughter, entertainment and educational fun.

Thanks to our thoughtful donors and sponsors during the pandemic, many patients, caregivers, and those with economic need enjoyed the entire conference for free.
